Do you consider it practical to include energy efficiency attributes in research artefact metadata?
How feasible is it to report hardware/software/network context or specifications when publishing research?
M = 3.4,
Md = 4.0
M = 4.2,
Md = 5.0
1
2
3
4
5